

Hey,
That's some cool
stuff you got there!

To Whom It May Concern,

Internship Completion and Acknowledgment of Contributions

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Mr. Song In Gyu, who was a Business Development Intern at Linetype Technologies during the year 2024.

During his time with us, In Gyu played a key role in our early expansion efforts, particularly in the South Korean market. His sharp insight, dedication, and hands-on approach to market research helped lay the groundwork for our entry strategy. From competitor analysis to user profiling and partnership outreach, he demonstrated both initiative and a deep understanding of how to localize and position a new product in a competitive landscape.

One of the standout achievements during his internship was his contribution to Linetype Technologies placing in the top 6% of the global K-Startup Challenge, a prestigious accelerator that draws thousands of applications worldwide. His efforts in gathering on-the-ground intelligence and translating those findings into actionable strategies were instrumental to our success in that program.

In Gyu brings not just competence but also integrity, thoughtfulness, and a collaborative spirit to the teams he joins. His ability to navigate ambiguity, work across cultural and language barriers, and maintain focus on the bigger picture made him a trusted member of our startup during a high-pressure, high-growth phase.

I am confident that In Gyu will bring the same drive, clarity, and commitment to any organization he chooses to join next. He has my full recommendation.

Sincerely,

Alice Lim

Founder of Linetype Technologies